This is a "Flammable" scented candle made by Baxter of California in the United States of America.

We call it: "Jasmin Noir".

It weighs nine ounces, that is two hundred and fifty five grams, and lasts for roughly seventy hours. It is made of a soy-based wax, hand-poured in New York by our friends at Joya.

Runway look by Versace.

Pitch-Black

The outlook for the season is extremely dark.—S.M.Y.
