Ma Maison: Joya Reserve Hand Soap, Hand Cream, and Candle

I don't know what has come over me in the last few weeks. I've been having an "Anthropologie" moment and it hasn't abated. I'm constantly on their site and finally had an opportunity to do a quick crash into the store. I love this store for many reasons (1) the clothes are super cute; (2) it reminds me of stores in Paris my home; and (3) because it's so girly, so divalicious, and so pretty.

In a matter of 10 minutes I was able to walk in and out of the store with early birthday presents for myself (my birthday is next month) and something beautiful to dress my bathroom for the holiday. I had heard the Joya Reserve line was coming out before Christmas and that my talented design artist, paper creator, and all around cool chick Joy was designing the packaging. I couldn't help it. I had to get EVERYTHING - hand soap, hand cream, and candle in the Alhambra Perfume scent. I know I will be running out of the candle before Christmas, so another trip to the store is in order. Anthropologie I'm Julia and I'm addicted to your store.
